Dearest mother and all:

Well dear I received your letter & your card I received it to-day. The boys just brought the berries home and Zella was so tickled to get them as they are so nice & fresh. She is sending you the check so you can give it to Mr. Paulsen if you haven't already paid him. Was surely glad to get your letter, honey, and I guess you got mine. I won't be able to get this off until To-morrow evening and you won't get it until Friday as it is 5 o'clock already and the train leaves at 5:13 o'clock and there is no other until to-morrow night. Well anyway I took Bobby to the doctor and he told me to quit boiling the baby's diapers in Clorox. He said "better have them look a little dingy and not harm his skin so I had to wash all his diapers over that I had clean. He also gave me a perscription and the whole thing cost $3. The doc. charged $2 & the salve $1. The druggists surely are high here but it is worth more than that to me to know it as the poor little thing surely was broke out and I know they hurt him.

Yes, dear, I wanted to talk more to you too but time went so quickly and was so short.

We washed to day and Jella is starting the ironing now. Her brother and his wife & baby and her brother's wife's sister & husband & baby are coming to spend the week end with us so we will have a house full. I guess we will be thro about a week from this coming Saturday night if every thing goes O.K. At least I hope so. I like it down here and all that but it will seem good to get home again too.

The baby just woke up. I can see already that those sores are better. He is the dearest little thing ever.

No, mother, I did not know Aa Day but I had heard
you and dad speak about him & I spose I've seen him.
It surely is too bad tho.

Well honey, I guess I will close now and nurse the baby & write to Mrs. A.

Love & kisses to all from all we remain as ever your child. ren, Irma, Creston & Bobbie.
Zella sends her love & Bobbie sends a big hug & kiss. She doo.
said that Bobby was a nice healthy baby & he asked me if I nursed him & I said "yes" & she said they are so much healthier.
